

COUPLES COACHING

This meeting will be about getting both of you on the same page financially. This is what I would like to do for you in our first meeting:

- We will define what your financial priorities are as a couple.
- I will help you to transition from being single individuals to thinking and performing as a couple financially.
- I will assist you to begin the process of putting your financial house in order
- Debt reduction strategy.
- At this meeting we will make a plan to implement each of these steps.
- You will come away with worksheets that will help you to define your priorities and set your goals as a couple.
